

The rampaging Eel River literally ripped the Paul Mudgett Memorial Bridge asunder. Rio Dell is in the background. The Eel River sawmills were formerly located at the lower left. Note the debris remaining where houses smashed against the left side of the span.