

C162—PLANTING PINEAPPLE

After the pineapple slip has been planted through holes made in the mulch paper, it grows to maturity in about a year and a half. Then, it bears, at intervals of six months, a total of about a dozen pines, by which time its life cycle is finished.

Reproduced by Spectratone
from a Kodachrome by Mike Roberts

COLOR CARD

REPRODUCED ~~FROM~~ NATURAL COLOR PHOTOGRAPHS

Address

