

"Ship's Company. Attention!" With Benn men standing in formation on the flight deck. Rear Admiral William J. Moran, Commander Antisubmarine group Three, began his inspection Jan. 31.

Man after man, in full dress blue uniform, was inspected by Admiral Moran and his Chief of Staff, Captain David P. Wynkoop. Their findings in the personnel inspection was an overall excellent.

The personnel inspection showed the state of Benn's readiness as the entire administration and materiel inspection was awarded the high grade of 92.6.

Berthing compartments aboard the ship hit an unbeat of high of 98, and the Marines, in great tradition, hit the same mark. Benn's fine Medical Department scored 95.7.
