

Above: Hornet Cagers Sting "B"

Lighter Moments

Sometimes in the long routine of combat days it seems like a half-forgotten dream, but there have been times on this fighting lady when the grim business of war was forgotten. Like the night of our first Ship's Talent Show, as we plowed up from Panama. Chief Terwilliger's henchmen gave forth with the hot and sweet, while "Smoky" Peak took top spot with his black-face gag and shuffle routine.

Beach parties in the far Pacific lack such of coming up to the Hollywood Lamour version, but who wouldn't jump at the chance to get his feet on something solid, if only for a couple of hours. Especially when it includes red hots plus cold brew and cokes. Well seems something besides Machinist Mate now!

Basketball fans got in for one game before the hangar deck was needed for more urgent business Tokyo way. This first game was dropped to the HORNET, 14 to 29, Buessickhouse, 7th Div., shown jumping center in the pic on the left, was high man with 10 points. Others in the lineup were:

Divine, R.	7th Div.	Forward
Asimari, R.	7th Div.	Center
Pierce, R. E.	V-2	Guard
Waggett, J.	V-2	Guard
Hanson, I.	V-4	Forward
Lewis, J. K.	V-2	Forward
Robbitt, W.	4th Div.	Guard
Cook, Joe	4th Div.	Forward
More, Joe	4th Div.	Guard
La Tulippe, W.	V-1	Guard
Moulden, J.	6th Div.	Forward

Below: Hunka Lands One

