SHIP'S PAPER

Here it is - your ship's paper in the paper-saving pony size with plenty of pictures.

Future issues will feature the various departments and groups which make up our entire crew. We hope it will help you to know your ship and shipmates better, and will give the ones at home a greater understanding of life aboard a carrier.

Photos are wanted for "Crew's Pin-up Page" and should be left at the Chaplain's Office. Write name and address of yourself and girl on the back. The Staff will select one picture for each issue. All pictures will be returned.

Helpful suggestions for improving the paper will be gladly received. Any cartoon artists aboard are urged to lend us a hand.

All material used in the paper has been carefully censored so it may be mailed home. Do not add handwriting or it will not pass the mail censors.

If extra copies of the paper are available announcement will be made in the plan of the day and papers distributed in the crew's library.

SEAGOING SENSE

"When this is all over . . . " - yes, we all have plans. Home again, a job, a new car, education, maybe wedding bells.

Then's when a little of that folding money that slides thru the sock so easily now will look mighty good. Your Uncle Sam will do a lot, but far from all you'll need to make those dreams come true.

"But I want to have a good time now" - Right! Have it now, but sign a War Bond allotment to begin after we are at sea again. That's as close to having your cake and eating it too that we know.

An allotment of $3.00 or $3.25 a pay will add down a $25.00 bond every three months. Deductions will not start until January 1945. You will be glad you had the chance to save in such an easy manner - at sea. If you have read this far you are interested. If you are interested, do not hesitate. See your Division Bond officer and sign the allotment slip today.

MOVIES

What is the movie to-night? Everybody wants to know. Why? Simply because a movie at sea is like finding a frosted drink in the middle of the desert.

Because it is a real treat some of the enthusiasm shown before, during, or after the show is understandable. But, there are certain men who act like boys and spoil the privilege for others who conduct themselves in a gentlemanly manner. Cat calls, whistles, shouts and obscene remarks by a few loudmouths give the whole Bennington crew a blackeye.

The majority appreciate the movies and show it by their gentlemanly conduct. Upon them, therefore, falls the task of silencing their unappreciative shipmates.

Most glaring fault: Failure to leave in the orderly, prescribed manner.

DON'T WASTE WATER!

Commander Beckmann, First Lieutenant and Language Control Officer, is in charge of the BENNINGTON'S water supply, and responsible for the proper distribution of fresh water.

He must see that there is enough for cooking, drinking, ice, laundry, field day, showers, and what not.

But ahead of all the above comes the boilers.

Use water carelessly as many of you have in the past and you'll wind up showerless, one of "Beckmann's goats."

Give the next man a break
