"Dear Blabby"

Dear Blabby.

First of all, I want to say that I haven't got a problem. I'm just writing because I'm fed up, Yes, just sick and tired of what's going on. Ever since we left Long Beach, all I've heard is guys complaining about how they want to get back home. All they ever think about is going home, Don't these people realize that this is the opportunity of a lifetime? Being over here, where most people never even dream of coming to. Visiting ports like Heng Kong and Japan, Seeing different people, broadening yourself, and becoming wiser to the ways of the world. why I wouldn't trade it for anything. I like it here, I'd ... I'd like to stay even longer ...... I den't .....den't ...den't wanna go home.... cause I.....I....like it...here..... sob,..... wanna go home,

Happy where I Am

I am in love with a girl who is my mother's uncle's cousin's niece, four times removed. Now my mother's aunt's consin's uncle's father is also my father's sister's step-uncle's grandfather-in-law (who was wounded in the Civil War), I love the girl very much, and would like to know if our marriage would be legal. I also have a brother who is in love with my girl's sister. Please help us.

During our recent stay in Hong Kong, the USS Benner (DD-807) went to a watery grave at the hands of a U.S. Navy Commander and his two accomplices. The Benner was theoretically sunk by three Marines from Benn, disguised as a Commander, a third class PO, and a seaman apprentice. These Harines are members of a group assigned to test the security of of ships in Task Group 70,40 Take a hint from the unfortunate Benner: let's think a little bit mere about security. The next time may not be a drill!

The Hong Kong Home Guard and British Snipers Section demonstrated their proficiency to Mardet's Pistol and Rifle Team while the Benn enjoyed her stay in Hong Kong, Those Snipers really know their Benn's landing party went ashore in Sasebo to practice field problems, knong the subjects taught while in the field were hand-and-are signals, fire-and-manusyer techniques, fire team and sound formations and plateon tactics. The landing party is shaping up. Guess who just slithered into the MCO Quarters as a "Boot Corporal?" That little old wine drinker, me! There were also two other warrants handed out this month, these going to LCpl's Jim Paymter, and Nick Majersky, Pass out
