

BENN MEN ENJOY OAHU BEFORE APOLLO V.I.P. CRUISE

Two Bennington sailors observe the beauty of Hanalei Bay (top, opposite) while others test their skills at handling an outrigger (center, opposite) and swimming (bottom, opposite) in the waters near Fort DeRussy. Bennington beachcombers found the natives to be friendly (left) and proceeded to take advantage of the situation. However their efforts were interrupted briefly as Bennington once again got underway (below) for the first "dress rehearsal" of the Saturn/Apollo 4 recovery.
