

From Countdown To Splashdown Apollo Is a Success

On her launching pad awaiting countdown (above left and on page 25) stands the gigantic Saturn 5/Apollo 4 spacecraft, whose ultimate destination (above) was the Pacific Ocean. (Photos courtesy of NASA) A frogman from UDT 12 recovers the apex cover that shielded the parachutes which lowered Apollo safely into the water.

