In the area of retirement benefits, all careermen would make a 0.5 per cent contribution to their retirement pay. This figure includes the 4.8 per cent Social Security tax on the first $7,800 of total pay.

The Hubbell plan recommends that some special and incentive pays be changed. Task force recommendations in regard to these changes are:

- * Normal reenlistment bonus in effect would be done away with. No normal bonuses would be paid after the man changes from the non-career pay group to the career group.

- * The variable reenlistment bonus would be improved so men in critical ratings could get it for reenlistments after the first one.
