Question: What two teams will play in the World's Series next Fall?

Tom Dunleavy,
AN, Bronx,
New York.

"The Yankees and Dodgers again this year--a subway series. I think the Yankee farm system will come through this year with new men--pitchers especially. The "Big Four" can't carry the whole team. I haven't got much comment on the Dodgers."

"Yarkees--and I'd like to see the Giants win. They are the best spirited team in the league. That's why they won last time. The Yankees are a good clinch team."

"The Cards and Cleveland. Always have been a fan of the Cardinals----old men like Slaughter and Musial have a lot of experience. Cleveland just missed by a few errors last year. They are hot and will get it this year. If the Cards and the Indians win, it will be a tough battle in the Series."

"Yankees and Dodgers again. The Yankees have a pretty good manager and the team is better this year than last because of Mantle. The only reason the Dodgers didn't win last year was because they had a weak pitching staff. This year they have three young pitchers coming up, including Van Cuyk."

Don Price, JR
Columbus,
Ohio.

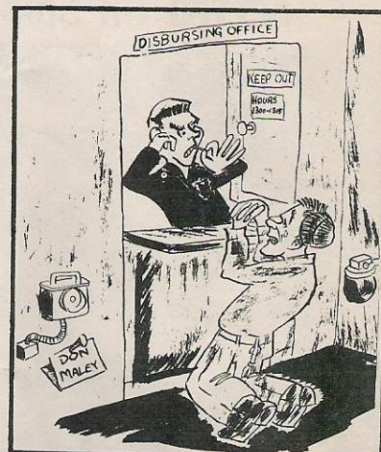

"Cleveland, and your guess is as good as mine on the other team--maybe the Dodgers; they've got the material. The Indians are a bunch of old men. If they could get ahold of Mickey Mantle it would help win the pennant."

Clyde D. Pyle
FN, Mess Cook,
Portsmouth,
Ohio.

"Yankees and the Giants. In my opinion, the Yankees

"Okay, so your wife's having a baby and they're going to foreclose the mortgage on your house. Come back in August."

are an all-around better team. They will have a close run with Cleveland to win but as long as they keep Johnny Mize they'll have a ball club. The Giants have power and more batting and fielding ability and it will help if Monty Irvin's ankle is better this year."
