

JET BLAST

Captain Paul Foley Jr., USN
Commanding Officer

Commander J.J. Hilton Jr., USN
Executive Officer

LCDR G.H. Winslow, USN
Advisor

The JET BLAST is published semi-monthly by the Public Information Office of the USS BENNINGTON (CVA-20) in compliance with NAVEXOS P-35 revised November 1954. This publication is financed from non-appropriated funds at no cost to the government and is distributed free to the crew of the USS BENNINGTON.

Armed Forces Press Service material appearing in this publication may not be reprinted without the written permission of Armed Forces Press Service. All photographs are Official U.S. Navy Photos unless otherwise credited.

Editor.....Paul Lazzaro, JO2
Staff.....Jim Glynn, SN
.....Charles Read, AN
Art.....Walter Kaye, SN
Vari-Typed F.H. Fricks, LI3

Printed By The
Bennington Print Shop

MONTEVIDEO

Montevideo has an area of about 204 square miles and occupies a peninsula which forms a circular bay separating the River Plate Estuary from the Atlantic Ocean. The land in the area is gently rolling with hills rising from 200 to 300 feet above sea level. The receding shore line provides excellent bathing beaches, making Montevideo the summer resort of South America.

The city is in the sub-tropical zone and the climate is characterized by mild temperatures, high humidity, strong winds, and sudden climatic changes. The average temperatures during the winter season (June to September) is 52 degrees. During the Spring (October and November) 64, Summer (December to March) 71, and Autumn (April and May) 61.

The language is Spanish al-

Navy TV Show Requests Scripts

An opportunity has arisen for Bennington crew members to participate in the filming of a new television series based on the lives of Navy men and women.

The new program, NAVY LOG, will be televised over the CBS network in a series of half-hour weekly programs commencing Tuesday, 20 September.

Programs completed or in progress deal with such themes as a difficult underwater assignment and how it was carried out by a team of frogmen; the heroic attempt made to save a fellow flyer's life; and the humanitarian role played by Navy men in the mass evacuation Indo-Chinese.

There are other dramatic episodes involving the Marines, the Waves, the Chaplain Corps and the Medical Corps....all of them designed to be entertaining while dramatizing in authentic fashion the human values that are the heart and soul of the Navy.

New ideas for scripts will be welcomed from Navy Personnel. In submitting an idea, tell the story briefly and give indication of what documentary material is available to authenticate it and to fill out details.

All correspondence regarding NAVY LOG should be addressed to NAVY LOG Project Officer, Office of Chief of Information.

though traces of Portuguese accents are often found.

The population of Montevideo which numbers close to a million, is very friendly. All men going ashore are urged to remember that they are representatives of the United States and that the people of foreign countries will judge the U.S. by its peoples actions.

Chaplain's Corner

There was once a group of sailors having a friendly conversation about the things of life and one man was saying that he couldn't help getting into trouble. Everywhere he went, there was trouble staring him in the face. He tried to stay out of it but that was almost impossible. Another man spoke up and said he was able to stay out of trouble. He had learned long ago that trouble was wherever you went looking for it.

The man who is looking for trouble and is prepared for it usually finds it. They can be spotted as far as you can see a group of sailors. They have their hats on the backs of their heads, their sleeves rolled up, and are usually in a group of like persons. They walk up and down the street making slanderous remarks to those who are passing by. They wind up in a bar room somewhere, get a few drinks and they become more boisterous and more arrogant than before.

Did you ever stop to think about this question? How many men get themselves fouled up? Not as many, by a long shot, as keep out of trouble.

The Good Book says, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so he is." The man who is looking for trouble shall find it, and he who is seeking a good honest enjoyable time will also find it.

NO ONE FORCES YOUR STUDIES ON YOU, YOU CHOOSE THEM.

Choose them, then with the thought in mind of the kind of liberty you desire to enjoy, and you will not regret the choice.

B. S. POWER
CHAPLAIN USN